

5 Workplace Issues

That Affect Employee Productivity

Are you wondering whether your workforce could become more productive? It's time to examine the key factors that influence an employee's ability to maintain peak performance.

"Highly engaged employees are 38% more likely to have above-average productivity," Forbes notes.¹

Managerial Skills

1 Do managers help employees work more effectively?

Scheduling check-ins with employees periodically provides the coaching they need to complete their projects.

Workload

Do employees feel overworked?

Alleviating a heavy workload can help employees carry out tasks more effectively.

Communication and Relationships

3 Do people enjoy working with one another?

Building strong relationships across the workplace can help tasks and projects to flow more smoothly.

Level of Support in Their Growth

Do you provide sufficient training and resources?

Receiving ample training and resources to advance their careers helps employees enjoy their work and excel.

Clarity on Goals and Objectives

5 Does everyone clearly understand the company's vision?

Having clarity on the company's overall goals and vision helps employees work more effectively as a team.

Made by Primalogik

1. <https://www.forbes.com/sites/forbeshumanresourcescouncil/2016/11/29/train-your-employees-and-increase-your-bottom-line/?sh=3d0bbbe347b4>